

The first stop Colombia, South America!

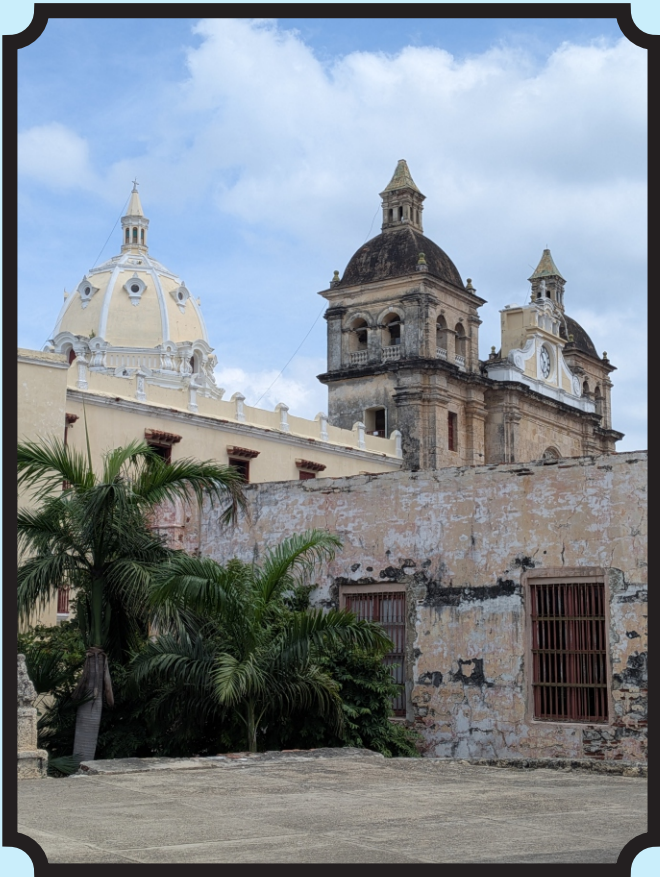

We went to the capital city of Colombia called Bogotá. It is the biggest city in the country. It is also known for having wonderful fruit markets with really unique fruits such as a "rubus", which is like a strawberry and raspberry mixed together. It was yummy!

Next we went to Cartagena which is a city right on the Ocean.

Cartagena has a huge, long wall called "Las Murallas". This was built a long time ago to protect the city from Pirate attacks. Now, you can walk all along the wall and see great views of the city and the fortress. The wall is as long as 916 school buses!

Pirate Ship

Castillo de San Felipe de Barajas Cartagena

Castillo in English is castle or fort

This is a real
Cannon!

